*There is no guidance what the cost for additional credits will be in the future. Quoting from the website:

"Credits are used to download data from Wolfram|Alpha. Required credits for downloaded data generally range between 25 and 1,000 depending on file size, amount of data, and other features of the data download format. Pro subscribers get 500 credits every month. You will be able to purchase more credits in the near future. During our introductory period, you can get another 1,000 credits by filling out a simple survey that will appear when you have insufficient credits to complete your download or customization. (Policy is subject to change.)"
